

THE LUTHERAN HOUR

A National Broadcast with Local Impact

Chuck says, “One morning near the end of my 35-year wandering like a stiff-necked Israelite, I woke up and turned on my radio and your broadcast came on. This was the first seed planted in me to come back to church. Thank you for sharing the Good News!”
Imagine nudging a “Chuck” back to church near you!

Renee’s family started listening to The Lutheran Hour when she was a child and her mother was suffering from postpartum depression. The program motivated Renee’s father to find a local Lutheran congregation for his family. Those church roots took hold. Today, Renee still listens to the broadcast every Sunday on her way to church.
Do you have a “Renee” in your congregation or community?

James works on T38 jets at an Air Force base in Texas and has been a long-time listener of The Lutheran Hour. He says that some of his earliest memories as a child took place at his grandparents’ house, where his grandma listened to the broadcast. Now, when he goes out on Saturday mornings to do inspections, he puts in his earbuds and spends time with the Lord by listening to the radio program.
How many people in your community would welcome the Gospel as they prepare for the work week?

Cathy was driving through western Missouri when car trouble forced her to pull off the road. A young man named Brian stopped to help her. They talked about several topics and Brian shared that he is not religious. Cathy mentioned that she listens to The Lutheran Hour every week. Before they parted, Cathy gave Brian her contact information, in case he thought of any questions about their discussion. Weeks later, Brian reached out to Cathy. He had started listening to The Lutheran Hour, and it had impacted his life.
How many “Brians” near you need the Gospel planted in their lives?
